

Shared Learning

Learning from successful peers and colleagues certainly increases prospects of success. SHARED LEARNING GROUPS provide online workspaces for persons who wish to learn from each other, no matter their location. Good practice is shared and accessed instantly. Discussions and dialogue further enhances insight. Joint problem solving is also supported.

Participants are supported to share their knowledge by various means including documents, videos, work plans and discussion forums. This is particularly useful for persons in remote areas with fewer resources to learn from leading organizations.
